

METHODS FOR SCREENING AND IDENTIFYING
PATHOGEN VIRULENCE FACTORS

Abstract of the Disclosure

Disclosed are screening methods for identifying the interplay between environmental and host signals (e.g., host-dependent or host-independent signals) and physiological pathogenic pathways that control or regulate genes responsible for establishing a persistent infection, as in the colonization of the gut of the nematode.

N:\server\documents\00786\380xxx\00786_380002 Utility Application.wpd